THE INDIAN KITCHEN

Due to the simplicity of Indian cooking, very little equipment is required. In fact, most kitchens will already have everything needed to create a delicious Indian spread.

Most cooking is done on top of the stove. Indians favour cast iron or earthenware cooking pans, however, saucepans and frying pans of any material are suitable. A round bottomed cast iron pan similar to a small wok, called a kadhai is most commonly used in India. Also, a cast iron griddle called a tava is used for cooking pancakes, flatbreads and kebabs.

For cooking most curries, lentils, rice, vegetable dishes and fried foods such as samosas and pappadams, a medium-sized saucepan with a tight fitting lid is all that is required. If it is non-stick, all the better. A wok is suitable for deep frying and for recipes that don't require a lid such as wet curries that need reduction.

If you don't have a griddle on your stove, a frying pan will do the job just as well or in the case of kebabs, a grill. All recipes state which is required.

If you prefer to buy whole spices rather than ground, you will need a spice grinder. Traditionally, a mortar and pestle is used for this purpose, and gives a very finely ground result. These days, however, most people prefer to use an electric spice grinder or blender. The blender can also be used to chop onions, nuts, herbs and other ingredients. A food processor can be used for these and other mixing and kneading jobs, but does not grind spices successfully so in this case you could buy spices already ground.

Rice is one of the key ingredients in Indian cooking and easy to cook properly. Cook rice in boiling water until tender, or cook by the traditional absorption method. Wash rice in a colander, place rice into a saucepan, a size that allows the rice to be at least 2 cm deep. Add enough cold water to come 2 cm above the level of the rice, no matter what the quantity of the rice. Bring to the boil, boil until water has been absorbed. Steam holes appear on the surface of the rice, do not stir. Place a tight fitting lid on the saucepan, reduce heat to very low, cook rice a further 10 minutes without lifting the lid or stirring. Test rice after this time. Grains should be plump, dry and slightly sticky, not wet or gluggy. Cook further if necessary.

Undoubtedly, one of India's greatest inventions is the tandoor oven from which comes delicious tandoori meats and breads now popular in restaurants. A tandoor oven is a clay receptacle, with rounded sides, standing about 1.6 metres high, with charcoal in the bottom as the heat source. It is obviously not a practical cooking medium to install in your home. In fact, even in the Punjab province in northern India, where tandoor ovens originally come from, they are more often found in restaurants than homes.

The tandoor oven relies on the intense heat inside, created by the hot coals, to cook the meat, seafood or chicken pieces very quickly. The food becomes crispy on the outside while remaining juicy inside. The food is first marinated either in dry spices or a spice and yoghurt mixture and is then threaded onto very long metal skewers and lowered into the oven. Naan, an Indian flatbread is also cooked in a tandoor oven by pressing the dough onto the inside walls.

It is impossible to create the exact flavour and texture of tandoori foods without a tandoor oven, however, a kettle barbecue comes close or you can use a very hot oven or grill.

You will find it easy to create a delicious, successful Indian meal with no special equipment or techniques.

GLOSSARY

Ingredients listed below form a good basic store of Indian spices and foods; the Indian terms are given in brackets.

BLACK PEPPER (KALI MIRCH) May be bought as small, black peppercorns and used whole or freshly ground, or as powder.

BAY LEAVES Dried leaves of the bay laurel tree, used in flavouring many foods. Substitute a small sprig of coriander leaves for 1 bay leaf. Note: substitution will alter flavour.

BESAN Flour made from chickpeas or lentils—low in gluten and high in protein. If not available, use the following substitute. Roast yellow split peas in a heavy saucepan, being careful to turn constantly so as to prevent burning. Cool, then grind in an electric mixer or food processor as finely as possible. Put through a fine sieve and then store in a tightly covered jar.

CARDAMOM (ILLAICHI) An important curry spice, strong and aromatic, available as pods and powder. Substitute 2 cardamom pods, crushed, for 1/4 teaspoon of powder.

CHILLI (MIRCHI) Available as fresh, green chillies, dried red chillies, chilli powder, and chilli paste. Chilli gives colour, flavour and heat to most Indian-style dishes. Those who are not used to hot foods should use only a little chilli at first, and gradually increase the quantity as desired. Chilli can also be omitted entirely — the recipes will work quite well without it, though will not taste quite so exotic. Substitute 1 small capsium for 2 green chillies, or 2 tablespoons chilli paste for 2 tablespoons chilli powder.

CHILLI SAUCE A hot sauce useful as a dip for meat balls and other savouries; may be used in place of chilli paste in an emergency. Substitute tabasco sauce or tomato sauce as a dip. Note: flavours are different.

CINNAMON (DALCHINI) Available as bark (cinnamon stick) or powder; an important curry spice, aromatic, warm and sweet in taste. Substitute 15 mm of cinnamon stick, crushed, for 1/4 teaspoon of cinnamon powder.

CLOVES (LAUNGI) Available whole or powdered; an important curry spice, strongly aromatic and pungent.

COCONUT CREAM (NARIAL) Concentrated coconut available in many supermarkets and shops specialising in Indian foodstuffs, often in the refrigerated section. Used as is or dissolved in water. Store in refrigerator. Substitute, for liquid coconut cream, an equal quantity of canned coconut milk or evaporated milk. Note: evaporated milk substitution will change the flavour of the dish.

COCONUT MILK Available in cans or may be made by dissolving coconut cream in water, 30 g to 60 g coconut cream to every 1/4 cup (125 ml) water, depending on thickness required. Substitute, for every 1/4 cup coconut milk, plain evaporated milk or 1/4 cup evaporated milk in which 30 g to 60 g desiccated coconut has been soaked and strained out. Note that substitutions will change the flavour of the dish. A useful blender method for making coconut milk is to add 250 g desiccated coconut to 600 ml warm water. Place ingredients into blender and blend to a smooth puree. Squeeze through muslin over a basin to remove the first milk. Repeat this process for second milk adding same amount of water again to the original coconut. This will freeze very well or can be kept in a refrigerator. The rich cream will rise to the top of the milk and can be spooned off and used separately.

COCONUT Desiccated grated coconut is used in some curries and Indian desserts, for making coconut milk, some chutneys, and salads.

CORIANDER (DHANIA) Used extensively in seed and powder form — this gentle, fragrant spice is an important curry ingredient which rounds and balances the hotter spices. Coriander leaves are often used as a garnish in Indian cooking and as an ingredient in salads, chutneys and some curries. Coriander is easily grown in a pot. It is also known as Chinese parsley.

CUMIN (JHEERA) An important curry ingredient with a warm, aromatic taste. Available in powder form.

CURRY POWDER Blended curry spices. Mixture may be mild or hot according to recipe. Commercial curry powders do not give the flavour of a home-made curry mixture.

CURRY PASTE A paste made of blended curry spices, generally more expensive but giving superior results to the commercial curry powders.

FENUGREEK SEEDS Used whole or ground in curries. Strong aroma and slightly bitter taste. Use in small quantities.

GARAM MASALA A strongly perfumed mixture of several spices. These may be bought already mixed where spices are sold, or made at home by using either of the following recipes:

20 g cardamom seeds
20 g cinnamon stick
7 g black cumin seed
3 pinches mace
3 pinches nutmeg powder

Grind the first four ingredients together to make a smooth powder.

Add nutmeg. Mix and store in airtight jar.

125 g coriander seeds
30 g cinnamon
60 g peppercorns
Vi teaspoon nutmeg powder
60 g cumin seeds
30 g cloves
60 g large cardamoms

Roast the coriander and cumin seeds separately. Peel the cardamoms. Grind all the spices and store in an airtight container.

GARLIC (LEBSUN) A pungent bulb which separates into cloves; it is peeled then crushed, pounded or chopped to add flavour to all types of food.

GINGER (ADRAK) The root of a tropical plant, available fresh, powdered and canned. Preserved, sugared ginger is used as a sweetmeat. Recipes in this book specify fresh ginger, which should be scraped before being pounded or shredded. Vary the amount of ginger used to suit your taste. Substitute 14 teaspoon ginger powder for 1 thin slice of fresh ginger.

GHEE The clarified butter in which Indian food is traditionally cooked. Substitute, as a cooking medium, cooking oil, butter or margarine; in bread and dessert making, use butter or margarine.

LEMON GRASS A fragrant herb which may be bought in dried form or easily grown in the garden.

LIME JUICE Fresh juice of the lime — a member of the citrus family. Substitute for 1 tablespoon lime juice, 1 tablespoon vinegar mixed with 1 teaspoon sugar; or use equal quantity fresh lemon juice.

MINT A refreshing, tangy herb used in salads and chutneys, as a curry ingredient and as a garnish. Easy to grow in pot or garden; also available in dried form.

MUSTARD SEED (SARSON) Used whole or crushed in curries; has a strong, hot flavour and is generally used in small quantities.

NUTMEG (JAIPHAL) A pungent spice, available whole or in powder form.

ONION (PEEAZ) Sliced or chopped onion, fried golden brown, is used as the base for most curries. The frying caramelises the sugar in the onion and releases the delicious flavour and aroma. Onion rings, fried or raw, are commonly used as a garnish, and onion is also used extensively in salads.

PAPPADUMS Paper-thin lentil cakes which may be bought in packets at supermarkets and specialty stores. When fried in hot oil they swell, curl and double their size.

RICE (CHAWAL) Brown and white, served with curry or as a base for dishes such as pilaus and birianis. See Rice chapter for further information.

SEMOLINA (SUJEE) Grain, made from wheat commonly used to make puddings and sweets.

SESAME OIL A fragrant oil obtained from the sesame seed. Use in very small quantities.

SOY SAUCE Made from soy beans, very extensively used in Chinese cooking as ingredient and condiment.

TAMARIND PULP From the pod of the tamarind tree, used in making tamarind water, a common curry ingredient. To make tamarind water, soak a piece of tamarind (about a tablespoon) in  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup (125 ml) hot water and allow to stand for 15 minutes. Strain water into another container, squeezing tamarind pulp as dry as possible. Discard pulp. Use more tamarind pulp if a stronger taste is required. Substitute for  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup (125 ml) tamarind water,  $\frac{1}{4}$  tablespoons tamarind paste or 2 tablespoons lime or lemon juice; or use  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup (125 ml) vinegar.

TAMARIND PASTE (IMLI) A convenient method of adding tamarind to curry, used alone or mixed with water to make tamarind water. Substitute for 1 tablespoon tamarind paste: 6 tablespoons tamarind water; or 1  $\frac{1}{2}$  tablespoons lime or lemon juice; or 3 tablespoons vinegar. If a stronger, sour taste is required then more tamarind can be used.

TURMERIC (HALDI) A golden-yellow fragrant spice extensively used to colour and flavour curries, vegetables, rice and savouries. Saffron is an adequate substitute.

YOGHURT (DAHI) Milk curd, used in its natural form both as a curry ingredient and a curry accompaniment — plain, spiced or with cucumber, or other fruits and vegetables.

CURRIES

In this section you will find a wide range of curries to choose from, including beef, lamb, pork, chicken, duck, fish and prawns. And these can vary from koftas to kormas to vindaloos.

The curries range from mild to hot and it is entirely up to you to adjust them to your taste. The recipes here are rated as mild, medium or hot, but you can change this by increasing or decreasing the quantities of spices. Of course for a very hot curry, add lots of fresh chillies! If it's too hot, a little yoghurt or lemon juice will help to subdue it.

Curries should always be served with rice, and some Indian bread such as chapatis or naan. If the curry is very hot, it is wise to have a cooling accompaniment, often yoghurt-based. Or include some sambals to spice up a mild curry.

Curries are easy and quick to make as long as you have stocked up your kitchen with the many spices which are required.

MILD LAMB CURRY

Mild

- 1 7/8 kg boned shoulder or leg lamb
- 1/4 cup (90 g) plain flour
- 100 g butter
- 2 green apples, peeled, cored, quartered and sliced
- 2 onions, chopped
- 1 tomato, quartered
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- 1 1/2 cups (430 ml) stock
- 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons desiccated coconut
- 2 tablespoons sultanas
- 1 tablespoon flaked almonds

1 Trim lamb of excess fat, cut meat into cubes, toss in flour, shake off any excess.

2 Melt butter in a frying pan, add meat, brown on all sides. Remove meat and set aside.

Mild Lamb Curry

3 Add apples to pan with onions, tomato, garlic and curry powder. Sauté 3 minutes then pour off any excess fat.

4 Add stock. Return meat to pan with lemon rind and juice, sugar, coconut and sultanas. Bring to the boil, reduce heat to low, cover, simmer 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Stir in almonds.

SERVES 4 TO 6

KEEMA CURRY

Mild

- 4 tablespoons oil
- 2 large onions, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 2 teaspoons grated, fresh ginger
- 2 potatoes, cut into 1 cm cubes
- 1/2 cup (60 ml) water
- 750 g minced beef or lamb or pork
- 1/2 teaspoon each: ground cinnamon, ground cloves, ground cardamom, ground turmeric
- 2 tablespoons ground coriander
- 1/4 teaspoon chilli powder
- 1/4 teaspoon ground aniseed
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/4 cup shelled peas
- 4 tablespoons coconut cream
- 1 tomato, chopped or 1 teaspoon tomato paste (optional)

1 Heat oil in a large saucepan. Sauté onions until golden brown. Add garlic and ginger, sauté for 2 minutes.

2 Add potatoes and water. Simmer, covered, for about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

3 Add minced meat, cinnamon, cloves, cardamom, turmeric, coriander, chilli powder, aniseed and cumin. Stir over heat until water has evaporated.

4 Add peas and coconut cream. Cook until peas are cooked and curry is dry, stirring constantly.

(Add chopped tomato or tomato paste with the peas and coconut, if desired).

SERVES 4 TO 6

LAMB KOFTA CURRY

Medium

- 1 kg minced lamb
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 3 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 onion, thinly sliced
- 2 tomatoes, peeled and roughly chopped
- 2 teaspoons grated fresh ginger
- 1 teaspoon ground turmeric
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 2 teaspoons ground coriander
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ⅓ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 2 teaspoons chilli powder, or to taste
- 2 tablespoons white vinegar
- 2 cups (500 ml) water
- 3 tablespoons plain yoghurt
- ⅓ cup (180 ml) coconut milk
- ⅓ cup shelled peas

- 1 Combine lamb, chopped onion, garlic and eggs and roll into walnut-sized balls or 'koftas'.
- 2 Heat oil in a frying pan, sauté sliced onion until tender. Add tomatoes and ginger, sauté until liquid evaporates.
- 3 Add turmeric, cumin, coriander, cinnamon, pepper and chilli. Sauté.
- 4 Add vinegar and water, bring to the boil. Gently drop the koftas into the curry, cover and simmer 20 minutes without stirring.
- 5 Stir in yoghurt, coconut milk and peas. Simmer for a further 10 minutes.

SERVES 6 TO 8

HOT BEEF CHILLI CURRY

Hot

- 1 lump of tamarind pulp, the size of a walnut
- 60 g ghee
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 or 3 green chillies, chopped and seeds removed
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon ground turmeric
- 2 teaspoons chilli powder
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 500 g lean meat, cut into 2 cm cubes
- ⅓ cup (150 ml) warm water

- 1 Soak the tamarind in 2 tablespoons water.
- 2 Heat the ghee and sauté the onions and garlic until lightly browned. Lower heat and add the green chillies, cumin, turmeric, chilli powder and ginger. Cover and cook for 5 minutes.
- 3 Add the meat, cover, cook for 10 minutes.
- 4 Add warm water and simmer 1 hour or until the meat is tender.
- 5 Squeeze the tamarind and strain the juice. Add this juice to the curry and cook a further 5 to 6 minutes or until the gravy is thick.

SERVES 4

• TAMARIND TIPS

Tamarind is available from Asian and specialty food stores, as a paste, dried pods or pulp. Make your own tamarind paste by soaking the pulp in hot water overnight, then pass through a strainer. Store in a glass jar in the fridge. You can substitute lemon juice for tamarind juice in any recipe. In India, tamarind juice is very popular and refreshing. It is used medicinally in many Asian countries, to cleanse the digestive system.

KASHMIRI KOFTA CURRY

Medium

- 750 g lean minced beef
- 3 green chillies, finely chopped and seeds removed
- 3 tablespoons plain yoghurt
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground coriander
- 1 teaspoon chilli powder, or to taste
- 2 teaspoons garam masala
- 120 g ghee
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon milk powder
- 1 cup (250 ml) warm water
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom

1 Combine minced beef in a bowl with chillies, 1 tablespoon yoghurt, ginger, coriander, chilli powder, 1 teaspoon garam masala and 30 g ghee. Mix thoroughly and shape into small meatballs (koftas).

2 Heat the rest of the ghee in a saucepan. Add the sugar, milk powder, remaining yoghurt and garam masala, stir over heat for 1 minute.

3 Add 1¼ cup (125 ml) warm water and the meat koftas. Simmer until the water has evaporated, turn the koftas and add another ½ cup (125 ml) of warm water. Simmer until water has evaporated. Sprinkle with pepper and the ground cardamom.

KORMA CURRY

Medium

120 g ghee

2 large onions, sliced

1/2 cup desiccated coconut

2 cloves garlic, chopped

1 1/2 tablespoons poppy seeds

1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

4 green chillies, chopped and seeds removed

3 teaspoons ground coriander

1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

1/2 teaspoon ground cumin

500 g lean lamb or beef, cut into 2 1/2 cm cubes

2 1/2 cups (150 ml) plain yoghurt

lemon juice to taste

1/2 cup chopped, fresh coriander leaves

- 1 Heat the ghee and sauté the onions until they are a crisp, golden brown. Remove onions and set ghee aside.
- 2 Combine onions in a blender or food processor with coconut, garlic, poppy seeds, ginger, chilli, coriander, cinnamon, cloves and cumin, and blend until smooth.
- 3 Add spice mixture to the reserved ghee. Cook over low heat for 5 minutes.
- 4 Add meat and yoghurt. Bring to the boil, simmer over low heat for 1 hour or until meat is tender.
- 5 Remove from the heat, add the lemon juice and fresh coriander.

SERVES 4

• CLOVES AND CINNAMON

Both these spices lose their aroma and flavour very quickly when ground so must be stored in airtight jars.

If you want to buy whole spices and grind very small quantities, a hand pepper grinder is just the thing.

PORK VINDALOO

Hot

This dish, a southern Indian delicacy, is usually very hot and sour. No water should be used when cooking the vindaloo. For a milder effect use less chilli powder (1 teaspoon for mild, 2 teaspoons for medium).

3 large onions, sliced

5 cloves garlic, crushed

1 teaspoon ground cardamom

1 teaspoon ground cloves

1 tablespoon cracked black peppercorns

3 teaspoons chilli powder, or to taste

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

2 teaspoons ground cumin

2 teaspoons ground turmeric

2 teaspoons mustard powder

1 teaspoon ground ginger

3 tablespoons white vinegar

1 kg pork, cut into 3 cm cubes

4 tablespoons oil

- 1 Combine two sliced onions in a blender or food processor with garlic, cardamom, cloves, peppercorns, chilli, cinnamon, cumin, turmeric, mustard, ginger, and vinegar. Blend to a smooth paste.
- 2 Combine meat in a bowl with a quarter of the paste. Stand at least 4 hours, preferably overnight.
- 3 Heat oil in a saucepan and sauté remaining onion until tender and light brown.
- 4 Add the rest of the spice paste, stir over low heat for 3 minutes. Add the pork mixture, cover, simmer over low heat for about 1 hour or till the meat is tender.

SERVES 6 TO 8

PORK AND POTATO CURRY

Mild

4 tablespoons oil

1/2A teaspoon mustard seeds

1 large onion, finely chopped

2 teaspoons grated, fresh ginger

1 clove garlic, crushed

4 potatoes, cut into thick slices

2 tablespoons ground coriander

1/2A teaspoon chilli paste (optional)

1/2A teaspoon pepper

1 cup (250 ml) water

1/2A teaspoon each: ground cloves, ground cardamom, ground cinnamon, ground turmeric, ground cumin

1 tablespoon tomato paste

750 g lean pork, cut into 2 1/2A cm cubes

1 teaspoon white vinegar

1 Heat oil in a saucepan, sauté mustard seeds and onion until onion is golden brown.

2 Add ginger, garlic, potatoes, coriander, chilli paste, pepper, water, cloves, cardamom, cinnamon, turmeric and cumin. Mix well. Cover and boil until potatoes are half cooked.

3 Add tomato paste, pork and vinegar, mix well. Reduce heat to low. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour or until potatoes and pork are tender.

SERVES 4 TO 6

DRY CHICKEN CURRY

Mild

The pan must be continually watched, as the contents may stick. If this happens, add just sufficient water to prevent it

60 g ghee

2 onions, thinly sliced

2 cloves garlic, thinly sliced

2 tablespoons curry powder

1 tablespoon tomato paste

1 1/2A kg chicken pieces

squeeze fresh lemon juice

1 tablespoon desiccated coconut

1 Melt ghee in a frying pan, sauté onions and garlic until onion is tender.

2 Add curry powder and tomato paste, sauté 3 minutes.

3 Add chicken pieces, mix well, cover, simmer for about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

4 Add lemon juice and coconut, which will absorb any excess gravy.

SERVES 4 TO 6

BOMBAY CHICKEN CURRY

Mild

2 kg chicken pieces

2 tablespoons olive oil

2 tablespoons white vinegar

1 1/4 cups (125 g) desiccated coconut

4 cloves garlic, crushed

1/2A teaspoon ground cumin

1/2A teaspoon ground turmeric

1 teaspoon chilli powder

1/2A teaspoon ground black pepper

1 teaspoon grated, fresh ginger

10 curry leaves

1 tablespoon sugar

1 Place chicken pieces in a saucepan, cover with water and bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover, simmer for 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Drain, reserving 1 cup (250 ml) of liquid.

2 Heat oil in a saucepan, add vinegar, coconut, garlic, cumin, turmeric, chilli, pepper, ginger and curry leaves. Sauté for 2 minutes.

3 Add the chicken pieces, reserved stock and sugar. Bring to boil, reduce heat to low, cover, simmer for 15 minutes.

SERVES 4 TO 6

CHICKEN VINDALOO

Hot

2 large onions

6 cloves garlic

1 teaspoon ground mustard

2 teaspoons ground turmeric

1 teaspoon ground ginger

1 cinnamon stick, crumbled

2 teaspoons chilli powder, or to taste

2 teaspoons ground cumin

6 cloves

2 tablespoons white vinegar

1 tablespoon brown sugar

90 g ghee

1 1/2 kg chicken pieces

1 Roughly chop 1 onion, combine in a blender or food processor with garlic, mustard, turmeric, ginger, cinnamon, chilli, cumin, cloves, vinegar and sugar. Blend until smooth.

2 Combine chicken in a bowl with spice mixture. Marinate for at least 4 hours, preferably overnight.

3 Slice remaining onion. Melt ghee in a saucepan and sauté onion for 2 minutes.

4 Add chicken pieces. Reduce heat to low, cover, simmer for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender, stirring occasionally.

SERVES 4 TO 6

CHICKEN CURRY WITH SLICED COCONUT

Mild

60 g ghee

1 onion, finely chopped

2 cloves garlic, crushed

1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom

1/4 teaspoon ground cloves

1 cm cinnamon stick

1 tablespoon curry powder

1 tablespoon curry paste

1 1/2 kg chicken pieces

1/2 fresh coconut, sliced and with the outer skin removed

250 g fresh tomatoes, peeled and chopped

1 1/2 cups (310 ml) water

squeeze fresh lemon juice

1 Melt ghee in a frying pan, sauté onion and garlic for 3 minutes.

2 Add cardamom, cloves, cinnamon, curry powder, curry paste. Sauté 3 minutes.

3 Add chicken pieces, sliced coconut, tomatoes, water and lemon juice. Cover, simmer 1 hour or until chicken is tender.

SERVES 4 TO 6

STEP-BY-STEP TECHNIQUES

SOUTHERN CURRIED CHICKEN

Hot

- 5 dried chillies
- 2 tablespoons poppy seeds
- 2 tablespoons coriander seeds
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon cumin seeds
- 1 teaspoon ground turmeric
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon ground ginger
- 6 cashew nuts
- 2 cups (185 g) desiccated coconut
- 2 cups (500 ml) hot water
- 90 g ghee
- 4 small onions, chopped
- 4 cloves garlic, crushed
- 6 chicken breast fillets, cut into 3 cm pieces
- juice 1 lemon

1 Combine chillies, poppy seeds, coriander, cumin, turmeric, ginger, and cashew nuts in a blender or spice grinder. Blend to a smooth paste.

2 Combine coconut in a bowl with  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup (150 ml) hot water, stand for 3 minutes. Press coconut through sieve, reserve milk.

3 Pour  $\frac{1}{4}$  cups (350 ml) hot water over the coconut, stand 10 minutes. Press through sieve, reserve milk.

4 Melt ghee in a frying pan, stir in onions, garlic, and spice paste, for 3 minutes. Add chicken, fry on all sides until brown. Remove chicken and set aside.

5 Pour the  $\frac{1}{4}$  cups (350 ml) coconut milk into the pan, simmer sauce until reduced and thickened.

6 Return chicken to sauce. Add the  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup (150 ml) coconut milk and lemon juice. Simmer 10 minutes.

SERVES 4 TO 6

Cut chicken fillets into 3 cm pieces

Blend chillies, poppy seeds, coriander seeds, cumin, turmeric, ginger and cashews to a smooth paste

After pouring hot water over coconut, press through a sieve and reserve milk

Southern Curried Chicken

CHICKEN MALAI CURRY

Mild

30 g ghee

1 onion, chopped

2 cloves garlic, crushed

1 ½ kg chicken pieces

2 ½ cups (625 ml) thin coconut milk

2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

CURRY MIXTURE

1 tablespoon ground coriander

1 teaspoon ground mustard

1 teaspoon ground cumin

1 teaspoon ground turmeric

½ teaspoon ground ginger

• GHEE

Ghee is used in most Indian dishes. It is butter with the water and non-fat solids removed. To make it, cut butter into pieces and melt slowly without burning. Remove from the heat and allow to stand for a few minutes. Drain off the clear yellow liquid (ghee).

SPICY DISHES

Try some of these tantalising dishes which combine a variety of spices to appeal to all kinds of taste. Serve these dishes with rice and accompaniments, perhaps a vegetable salad. Kebabs are best presented on a bed of rice, with some sauces, chutneys or sambals to complement them.

Ideally, spices should be freshly ground for optimum flavour, but they can be bought already ground from supermarkets. Often recipes call for whole seeds, such as mustard seeds or cumin seeds, which when dry roasted impart a rich aroma and flavour to the dish.

Or you may be required to grind a range of seeds together with some vinegar to make a paste. Make extra quantities of paste, and store in an airtight container in the fridge to use next time.

You can vary the quantities of spices in these dishes - be as creative as you want!

RICE

Rice is an indispensable part of an Indian meal, an essential background to a hot, spicy spread. Plain boiled rice can be served with any of the curries or spicy dishes you make, as well as the more creative pilau and biryani dishes.

There are many types of rice - long grain is usually preferred for pilau and biryani, with short grain usually being used for creamy desserts. Long grain rice absorbs more water than short grain so this should be taken into account when cooking it. Soak rice in cold water before cooking it, to help separate the grains.

Vegetable Pilau

PLAIN BOILED RICE

3 cups (500 g) rice

water

1 Wash rice in cold water four or five times, until water is clear.

2 Add cold water to come 2 cm above rice in saucepan. Bring to the boil, reduce heat to medium. Continue cooking until water evaporates, leaving air bubble holes through rice.

3 Reduce heat to low. Place lid on saucepan and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Do not stir or lift lid during cooking time.

(Another method for boiling rice is to add it to a very large pot of rapidly boiling salted water and cook at a rolling boil, uncovered for 15 to 20 minutes. Drain in a colander).

SERVES 6 TO 8

SAFFRON RICE

3 cups (500 g) long grain rice

3 tablespoons ghee

2 onions, finely sliced

1 teaspoon ground turmeric

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon saffron powder

5 cups (1¼ litres) hot chicken stock

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon cracked pepper

OPTIONAL

3 tablespoons sultanas

$\frac{1}{4}$  cup almonds, sautéed in oil until golden brown

1 cup cooked peas

1 Wash rice in cold water, drain.

2 Melt ghee in a heavy based frying pan, sauté onion until golden.

3 Add turmeric, saffron and rice, stir well to coat rice with ghee. Fry until rice grains

VEGETARIAN DISHES

AND VEGETABLE ACCOMPANIMENTS

Some of the best vegetarian food in the world can be found in India. States of Southern India are predominantly vegetarian and many delicious and nutritious dishes are found there.

In Indian cooking, vegetables are never boiled and the water then discarded. They are cooked with a little water, or with some other liquid which forms the sauce of the dish, so that the nutrients are retained, or in a dry style such as bhajis.

In this section you will find recipes using all kinds of vegetables, and various ways of cooking them. Serve these dishes as a meal on their own with some rice, or serve as accompaniments to a meat meal. Whip up a cool salad in hot weather, or a hot vegetable curry in the cold winter months.

SAMOSAS

AND ACCOMPANIMENTS

No Indian meal is complete without a selection of accompaniments. A meal should include a yoghurt-based side dish and a sambal or two.

Raitas are very refreshing with their fruity flavour.

The recipes in this section can also be used as entrées and as 'finger food' for cocktail parties. Serve samosas (either meat or vegetable), pakoras, or fritters with a selection of sambals and yoghurt dips. Or you could just make them as an ideal snack for between meals.

The sambals and other accompaniments are very simple to make and should be made freshly for each meal. Banana and coconut, cucumber and yoghurt - just some of the interesting combinations which stimulate the taste buds and enhance the flavour of the rest of the meal.

3 Heat remaining oil in a frying pan over-moderate heat. Drop batter, 1 tablespoon at a time, into the oil and fry on both sides until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot, with chutney, chilli sauce or tomato sauce.

MAKES 20

• BESAN FLOUR

This is usually made from dried chickpeas but can be made from dried split peas too. It is an excellent source of protein and iron. It should be stored in an airtight container and usually keeps well for a few months.

PAKORAS

Use any vegetables you choose such as thinly sliced potato or eggplant, cauliflower broken into florets, spinach leaves, or chopped onion

BASIC BATTER

250 g besan (chickpea flour)

V4 teaspoon baking powder

V4 teaspoon ground turmeric

1 teaspoon ground coriander

V4 teaspoon chilli powder

water

1 To MAKE BATTER: Sift besan, baking powder, turmeric, coriander and chilli into a bowl. Gradually stir in sufficient water to mix to a thick batter consistency.

2 To make pakoras, dip vegetable pieces into batter, deep fry in moderately heated oil until golden brown, drain on absorbent paper.

CORN FRITTERS

2 cups grated corn (fresh or canned)

1 cup (125 g) besan flour

2 green chillies, finely chopped and seeds removed

½ teaspoon ground turmeric

1 teaspoon ground coriander

2 tablespoons chopped coriander

oil for deep frying

1 Combine all ingredients to make a fairly thick batter.

2 Add a tablespoon of hot oil to the mixture. Deep fry a tablespoon of the batter at a time in hot oil until it is golden brown.

MAKES 15 TO 20

POTATO SAMOSAS

PASTRY

2 cups (500 g) plain flour

½ teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon salt

30 g ghee, melted

4 tablespoons plain yoghurt

FILLING

60 g ghee

1 small onion, chopped

500 g boiled potatoes, cut into 1 cm cubes

2 green chillies, finely chopped and seeds removed

1 teaspoon garam masala

oil for deep frying

• FRITTERS

Fritters should always be served hot immediately after cooking and cannot be reheated. Serve them with a selection of chutneys

Samosas

- 1 To MAKE PASTRY: Sift flour, baking powder and salt into a bowl. Add ghee and yoghurt, stir until combined. Knead until dough is smooth.
- 2 To MAKE FILLING: Melt ghee in a frying pan, sauté onion 2 minutes.
- 3 Add potatoes and chillies, sauté 5 minutes. Stir in garam masala, allow to cool.
- 4 Take walnut-size pieces of dough, roll out on a floured surface, making thin rounds the size of a saucer.
- 5 Cut the rounds in half, fold each half into a cone shape, seal sides of cone with water and fill with potato mixture. Seal open end with water.
- 6 Deep fry samosas in moderately hot oil until golden brown, drain on absorbent paper.

MAKES 15 TO 20

SAMOSAS WITH MEAT

- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 30 g ghee
- 375 g mince steak
- 2 teaspoons ground coriander
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- 14 teaspoon chilli powder
- 1 teaspoon garam masala

- 1 Melt ghee in a frying pan, sauté onion and garlic until onion is tender.
- 2 Add mince, coriander, ginger, chilli and garam masala. Sauté 10 minutes or until mince is well browned, cool.
- 3 Fill samosas as in the preceding recipe, and deep fry until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

SAMBALS

Sambals are amongst the many accompaniments you will find with an Indian meal. You can make a sambal with anything at all - various fresh or canned vegetables and fruit, seafood and eggs. You will find a wide range of sambals in this section and you can make your own combinations too.

A common ingredient of all sambals is chilli. Experiment with various quantities and find out how hot you like it! If you are serving a very hot sambal, don't forget to serve a cool yoghurt-based accompaniment too. If you have mistakenly put too much chilli in a sambal, add extra lemon juice to take some of the 'bite' out.

Serve sambals as accompaniments to a gourmet Indian spread, or serve them as starters to a Western style meal. Use them at parties together with a selection of breads, or simply with raw chopped vegetables.

BREADS

There are many kinds of Indian breads some of which are unleavened and are more like a Western style pancake. They are made with a variety of grains, including rice flour and semolina. They can be plain or stuffed with various fillings. There are deep-fried breads such as poori or oven-baked ones such as naan.

Chapatis are the daily bread of millions of Indians, cooked on a griddle and eaten with every meal, or simply with a bowl of dhal.

Dosa is usually stuffed with a spicy potato mixture and served with a couple of accompaniments, usually a chutney and a yoghurt dish. Or create your own filling from any vegetables or meat. They can form a meal in themselves. Parathas are also usually stuffed, and are a light tasty snack, good to serve as an entrée.

Naan is a favourite bread to eat at Indian restaurants. It is traditionally made in a tandoor oven, the dough being slapped against the sides of the oven, but you can make it in your own oven with good results. Naan is served just plain, or you can spread buttered dough with crushed garlic for a very tasty garlic naan.

Serve any of these breads with a variety of curries and accompaniments, using the bread to scoop up the food, in true Indian style. Practise this before trying it in front of your guests!

Chapatis, Vegetable Chapatis and Pappadums

WIRE BASKET FROM ACCOUTREMENT, MOSMAN

• PAPPADUMS

These are pancake-like wafers made from lentil flour.

When dropped into hot oil for a few seconds they more than double in size and become very crisp.

They can be served with all types of curry.

Pappadums can be purchased in packets and should be stored in an airtight tin.

VEGETABLE CHAPATIS

2¼ cups (310 g) plain flour

1 onion, finely sliced

1 tablespoon finely chopped coriander leaves

14 red capsicum (pepper), finely chopped
cold water

½ cup (60 ml) oil

- 1 Sift flour into a bowl.
- 2 Add onion, coriander and capsicum, mix well.
- 3 Add as much ice-cold water as required to make a soft dough.
- 4 Divide up into walnut sized balls. Flatten and roll out thinly.
- 5 Heat a frying pan, brush it with oil and fry the chapatis (they should be like thick pancakes) on both sides until brown.

MAKES 6 TO 8

DOSA

Eaten extensively in southern India, dosa originated among the poorer people who were mostly vegetarians

• CHAPATIS

Use a non-stick frying pan for making chapatis instead of using oil, if at all possible, as they shouldn't be greasy.

1¼ cups (185 g) rice flour

1¼ cups (185 g) plain flour

a little chilli powder (optional)

2 tablespoons plain yoghurt

1 tablespoon ghee, melted

- 1 Mix the rice flour with the plain flour.
- 2 Add chilli, yoghurt, ghee and enough water to make a thick batter. Cover and stand at least 8 hours or overnight, at room temperature.
- 3 Spread heaped tablespoons of mixture thinly into a greased frying pan, cook over medium heat until lightly browned, remove. Repeat with remaining mixture.

MAKES 15 TO 20

POTATO STUFFING FOR DOSA

30 g ghee

V* teaspoon mustard seeds

1 medium onion, finely chopped

250 g potatoes, boiled, cooled, peeled and diced

½ teaspoon turmeric

½ teaspoon chilli powder

- 1 Heat the ghee and fry the mustard seeds for 1 minute.
- 2 Add the onion and sauté until tender.
- 3 Add potatoes, turmeric and chilli, sauté for 2 minutes or until dry. Put a spoonful of this mixture in each dosa, roll up like a pancake and serve.

MAKES 15

RICE PANCAKES

lineups (185 g) plain flour

1¼ cups (185 g) rice flour

1¼ teaspoons salt

3 eggs, lightly beaten

3 cups (750 ml) water

ghee

- 1 Sift all dry ingredients into a bowl, make a well in the centre, add eggs and water.
- 2 Gradually incorporate until smooth.
- 3 Lightly grease a frying pan with ghee. Heat to medium, pour enough batter into the pan to make a thin pancake, cover pan with a lid, cook for a few minutes. When the edges begin to lift off the pan, remove the pancake onto a plate.
- 4 Serve these fried side up with a filling such as mince, if desired.

STEP-BY-STEP TECHNIQUES

CHAPATIS

3 cups (375 g) fine wholemeal flour

1 tablespoon ghee

1 cup (250 ml) lukewarm water
oil

- 1 Place flour in a bowl. Rub in ghee.
- 2 Add water and mix into a firm dough.
- 3 Knead dough 10 to 15 minutes until elastic. Cover and rest for 1 hour.
- 4 Pinch off pieces of dough about the size of a large walnut and roll out on a lightly floured board into a thin circle.
- 5 Heat a little oil in a frying pan and place one chapati in pan, cook for 1 minute. Turn and cook the other side. Press lightly around the edges of chapati to encourage bread to rise a little, remove, repeat with remaining chapatis.

MAKES 6 TO 8

Rub ghee into the flour

Pinch off walnut-sized pieces of dough and roll out to a thin circle

Fry one chapati at a time, on each side

Chapatis

COCONUT BREAD

2 tablespoons desiccated coconut

3 tablespoons plain flour

pinch cayenne pepper

$\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon sugar

60 g ghee

1 Combine coconut, flour, cayenne and sugar together. Add enough cold water to mix to a soft dough.

2 Roll out into small flat cakes.

3 Fry a few at a time in the melted ghee until cooked and light brown, drain.

MAKES 4

POORIS

4 cups (500 g) plain or wholemeal flour, sifted

cold water

120 g ghee

1 Combine flour with enough cold water to make a soft pliable dough, knead lightly until smooth. Cover with a damp cloth for an hour, and then knead again until the dough does not stick to the hands.

3 Make small balls the size of an egg. Roll these out on a floured board until they are the size of a small saucer.

4 Heat ghee in deep frying pan, add one poori at a time. With a flat spoon or spatula, press the poori gently until it puffs out; turn and cook until pale golden. Drain, serve hot.

MAKES 24

STUFFED PARATHAS

1 cup (125 g) plain flour, sifted

60 g butter

cold water

1 tablespoon prepared horseradish cream

1 Rub 15 g of the butter into the flour and add enough water to mix to a soft dough.

2 Divide into 8 parts. Roll out each of the 8 pieces thinly to a round shape.

3 Spread horseradish on one round and cover with another. Repeat to make 4 parathas.

4 Melt remaining butter in a frying pan, add parathas, cook on both sides over medium heat until browned and cooked through.

MAKES 4

NAAN

$1\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons dry yeast

1 cup (250 ml) lukewarm water

3 teaspoons sugar

2 tablespoons plain yoghurt

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup melted ghee

1 teaspoon salt

4 cups (500 g) plain white flour

melted ghee or butter, extra

$2\frac{1}{4}$  tablespoons cumin seeds

1 Preheat oven to 230°C (450°F).

2 Dissolve the yeast in half the water. Mix in sugar and put mixture aside for 10 minutes, or until it starts 'frothing'.

3 Mix in yoghurt, rest of water, melted ghee and salt. Knead flour into this mixture to make a stiff dough, then knead, alternately pressing and folding, for a further 15 minutes.

4 Warm a bowl large enough to hold twice the volume of dough. Grease the bowl, and cover the dough with this. Set dough aside, until it has doubled in volume.

5 Divide dough into 10 balls. Form thick, round discs, the size of a small dinner plate. Brush the shapes of dough with melted ghee or butter, sprinkle with cumin seeds, place in preheated oven for 10 minutes or until they puff up and go a golden-brown colour.

MAKES 10

1 cup (125 g) semolina

¼ teaspoon turmeric

¼ cup (30 g) rice flour

45 g butter

½ cup oil

cold water

1 Mix flour, semolina and turmeric. Rub in 30 g butter.

2 Form into a soft dough with cold water, kneading the dough well.

3 Combine remaining 15 g butter with rice flour, beat until creamy.

4 Roll out the soft dough into a large circle and spread the rice flour mixture evenly on it. Roll it up and roll out again.

5 Cut into 6 cm rounds with a biscuit cutter and fry in the heated oil in a frying pan until puffed. Serve immediately.

MAKES 24 TO 30

CHUTNEYS AND PICKLES

Chutneys and pickles are best made in large quantities and stored in the fridge in airtight jars, handy to use whenever you need them. The fruit chutneys and pickles are delightfully sweet and spicy, and there are also tangy ones like the tomato pickle.

Serve a selection of these, putting small amounts in little bowls, on the dinner table, or with snacks at a party. Or spread some on a sandwich to liven it up!

Chutneys and pickles are easy to make, involving blending or pounding ingredients together, and then boiling to thicken. Vinegar is an important ingredient, helping to preserve them.

DESSERTS

While desserts are not the focus of an Indian meal, they are fascinating and very different to the Western idea of dessert. There are amazing combinations of sweet ingredients and aromatic spices, and they often contain nuts such as almonds and pistachios, for additional flavour.

They may be dry cookies or slices and eaten with the fingers, or rich and creamy puddings, eaten in bowls. Whichever one you choose to make, you will not be disappointed with the unusual and exotic taste.

Fresh fruit platter - Anti-clockwise from top: pomegranates, grapes, figs, rambutans, peaches, strawberries and starfruit

BARFI

4 cups (1 litre) milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup (60 g) sugar

2 tablespoon slivered almonds

12 shelled pistachio nuts

- 1 Place rice flour in a saucepan, gradually stir in milk, stir until smooth.
- 2 Stir constantly over low heat until sauce boils and thickens.
- 3 Add sugar and rose water, cool.
- 4 Spoon into serving dishes, top with almonds and pistachios.

SERVES 4 TO 6

NOTE: We developed the recipes in this book in Australia where the tablespoon measure is 20 ml. In many other countries the tablespoon is 15 ml. For most recipes this difference will not be noticeable.

However, for recipes using baking powder, gelatine, bicarbonate of soda, small amounts of flour and cornflour, we suggest you add an extra teaspoon for each tablespoon specified
